Argumentative Essay Outline Worksheet

The worksheet of argumentative essay outline is a sample for the students who are learning to create the outlines to write essays. This outline contains 5 to 6 different stages which they will be following whenever they create an essay outline. The major steps are mentioned and enough space is given afterwards so they may practise first, and then write within the given spaces. By looking at the format of the outline, students can make an outline of their own essay and fill this worksheet.

The title of my essay is (mention the topic statement) and add a short introduction to your topic that makes sense

Now write the thesis statement (you will write your main idea or belief regarding the chosen topic that persuaded you to write this essay)

Why did you choose to work on this thesis statement (provide logical reasons by quoting some research or valid arguments behind selecting the certain topic and then creating the thesis statement)

Time to add evidence (you can add as many evidence you want to back-up your thesis statement, there's no limit of adding number of evidence)

State counter evidence if there are any (you can quote someone else's research or claim to refute it through your own claim and evidence)

Conclusion (just close the discussion by giving final answer)
